George Smith to Serve MSU School of Accountancy

Jackson, MS - George Smith, CPA, CVA, Senior Audit and Accounting Partner at Smith Turner & Reeves, was recently elected to the Chairmanship of the Mississippi State University (MSU) School of Accountancy Advisory Council.

"It is an honor to be a part of an organization that provides such support and benefit to MSU and its students," says George. "The accounting profession is in a unique period of it's history and we're honored to have the opportunity to help shape the experience for future accounting students."

The MSU School of Accountancy Advisory Council is a group of interested alumni and other individuals who interact regularly with faculty on issues affecting the School of Accountancy.

At ST&R, George enjoys helping his clients become more profitable by assisting them with strategic business planning, tax planning and business valuation services. His client base includes a wide variety of commercial, not-for-profit and governmental entities. He has extensive experience in the telecommunications, utilities and manufacturing areas, and provides workout services to lenders. He also directs the firm's Assurance Services Division.
